

Across the Shore

When I feel really down I listen to Don Henley sing "Heart of the Matter" and the chorus that reminds me of some saving grace that it really is about forgiveness for the wrongs we've done or the wrongs we've felt for all the pain and hurt.
even if we've lost love or caused love to be lost and we're learning about life again despite all the lessons we've learned Yes, the heart of the matter resonates like the stone that sends little wave echoes that whisper "I miss you, I miss you" from one shore to another.
